CROSS-STRAIT

FBI arrests woman accused of spying on Taiwan president's son for China

The FBI arrested 34-year-old Zhang Wanying at Los Angeles International Airport on Oct. 4 as she allegedly tried to flee to Shanghai, charging her with acting as an unregistered agent of the Chinese government. US officials say she surveilled Lai Ting-yu, an engineer and the son of Taiwanese President William Lai Ching-te, days after Xi Jinping's state visit to Washington. Taiwan's Presidential Office called it a 'typical case of transnational repression.'
